CAMPAIGN IS OPENED.

Enthusiastic Democratic Meetings Held in Three Cities.

BRYAN PRAISED RAWLINS.

TOLD THE PEOPLE WHAT A GREAT REPRESENTATIVE THEY HAD.

He Also Endorsed Caine as a Man Who Would Make a Good Governor—The Great Nebraskaan's Great Speech—Rawlins Shows the Republican Silver Record at Park City—Caine on State Issues—Roberts Punctures Allen at Logan.

The Democratic campaign was opened last night in three places in Utah and now the fight is on for good. The people will see the opposing candidates, hear the opposing arguments and, at the end, will go to the polls and cast their votes for those whom they like best. The Democrats are not afraid of the issues. Everything is going their way. The meetings last night were especially significant. Caine and Roberts in Logan, Rawlins and Evans in Park City and W. J. Bryan, A. J. Weber, Governor West and Fisher Harris in Provo, addressed gatherings that were large and enthusiastic in each place. References to the ticket, references to Rawlins and Thatcher, Roberts and Caine were received with enthusiasm, while the good points on good times, tariff and silver, as well as local issues, were much appreciated.

At Logan.
At Logan the Thatcher Opera house was filled to overflowing. The reception was much better than that given to the Republican candidates when they came through. The speeches were greatly appreciated.

John T. Caine, candidate for governor, was received with such applause as showed that he was strong. He congratulated the audience on the fact that statehood was coming. He congratulated them that a Democratic Congress had passed the enabling act, and that it had been signed by a Democratic president, while a Democratic delegate had secured its passage. He gave some inside facts which conclusively proved that neither the "rumbo" nor any other Republican had secured its passage. He gained a great deal of attention and good will by his talk on the state government as it should be.

He ended an economical administration with no money to be raised by taxes and paid to any favored class. He gave assurance that the rights of everyone would be considered under the state government. He spoke on other state issues also and gave promise of a business administration.

E. H. Roberts devoted himself largely to some of the brazen claims made by Allen in his tour. Allen had asked what the Democrats had ever done for the country and what had happened in the last year to make a change in the verdict. He had also dealt with the silver question. Roberts took up the tariff and showed by tables and reports that good times have been swift returning since the Democratic tariff measure was passed. He gave tables of raises in wages and compared the condition with the condition at a period one year after the passage of the McKinley law. He placed the blame for hard times on the Republicans showing that Harrison was compelled to resort to most unusual measures to keep from issuing bonds before his term expired. On the silver question he compared the records of the two parties, even on the gold bond bill, and brought home to the Republicans the charge that they form the gold party in this country.

Both speakers were frequently interrupted by applause and will start on their tour of the northern counties with an enthusiastic beginning at Logan to bring them surely to victory.

At Provo.
The Democrats owned Provo last night. The brass band and drum corps were sent out early in the evening and started the enthusiasm. Long before the hour of meeting the people began to assemble, and before the call to order was made the building was packed to the doors. Hundreds were turned away. Inside the crowd was feeling very jubilant. A. O. Smoot, Jr., chairman of the city committee, called the meeting to order and introduced A. J. Weber, candidate for attorney-general, who was greeted with a heavy burst of applause.

Mr. Weber began by relating several very amusing anecdotes. He said the Republicans had the marvelous impudence to blame the Democrats for the hard times. He denied the charge. He said that in 1861, when the Republicans came into power, the wealth of the country was equalized and was held by the many. Millions were scarce and people looked upon them with a feeling of awe. Now, after thirty years of Republican rule, millions are to be found on every hand. They are common. Over half the wealth of the country is now held by 3,500 persons, while the rest of the 65,000,000 people divide less than half among the many. A Republican Congress, at the instance of the gold bugs and monopolists, made greenbacks worth only 75 cents on the dollar by their way of paying the public debt and interest. When the western hills began to produce enough silver to meet the demands of business, the Republicans, in 1873, struck down half the money of the world for the benefit of the moneyed classes. They have been in power for twenty years since then and have not remonetized silver.

We must judge the future by the past. The calamity howlers would like a Democratic Congress to undo a two years' mischief the Republicans have done in thirty years. When, in fact, they should give the Democrats thirty years to undo the mischief done by the Republicans in two years. Statistics show that in Congress now there are four Democrats favorable to silver to one Democrat, while there are three Republicans against it to one for it. The only hope for silver is in the Democratic party. There is not a Republican leader of any consequence east of the Rocky mountains who is in favor of silver.

The Republicans lay great stress on the claim that Den Cameron is a silver man. Is he? Well, his own state is against him. But what sort of a silver man is he? The other day the Republicans of Pennsylvania held a state convention and adopted a strong platform against silver. Cameron was not at that convention fighting for silver. Not one word was heard from him and his constituents loved him so well that they adopted a financial plank against him and his materialistic Senators Jones and Stewart of Nevada have left the Republican party because they see no hope for silver in it.

The speaker then took up the income tax. He said it was a very just measure. It would have placed the burdens of government where they belong. The rich were the only ones who opposed this tax and when the Republicans saw this they took issue against the income tax.

The speaker then compared the two tickets. He said that the Democrats, on omission of himself, and showed the vast superiority of the Democratic ticket. Someone in the audience called out, "The ticket's all right."

This caught the house. The cry was taken up and the Democrats clapped, stamped, whistled, threw up their hats and in other ways gave vent to their enthusiasm. They liked the ticket.

Harris' Speech.
Fisher S. Harris was the next speaker. He took up the question of campaign in a very fluent and clever way. His speaking was pleasant and he was frequently interrupted by applause. He devoted a great deal of attention to the silver question, but raised the nonissues for senators, congressmen and governor very highly. He also went into the first principles of the two parties. He made an excellent impression on the audience.

In the midst of Harris' speech there was a commotion in the hall. Hon. Wilbur G. Brainerd, who had been invited to deliver a lecture to the students of the Brigham Young academy had entered the hall, immediately he was surrounded by a group of men who were in his eagerness to welcome the speaker, and the oration lasted for ten minutes. At the end of Harris' speech Mr. Brainerd agreed to make a five-minute speech and lasted only two minutes. At length the distinguished speaker was able to raise his hand and motion for silence.

William J. Bryan's Speech.
Mr. Bryan began by saying he would talk to the audience as he would talk to the people. He said he would not make a public servant and not public rights. He said he would not make a public servant and not public rights. He said he would not make a public servant and not public rights.

do much good in Utah county this year. Governor West closed the meeting. As it was growing late he said he would only ask the people to support the straight Democratic ticket.

The Democrats of Provo feel very good after the meeting. They feel that the party has been inspired afresh and that it can now go on and win the great victory.

At Park City.
Nearly all the miners of Park City are ready to take the opposite course from that which they followed last year and vote for the party of silver. The great meeting held there last evening had a most beneficial effect in this line. A great audience greeted J. L. Rawlins and David Evans.

Mr. Rawlins made one of the best speeches he ever made. His delivery was warm, earnest and fluent and he caught the attention and enthusiasm of the meeting. He devoted a great deal of attention to the silver question with a purpose of showing that the Democratic party is the only party of silver. He took up the history of financial measures from 1873, explained his bearings and explained the tendency of the Democratic party now towards silver and the Republican party towards gold.

David Evans of Weber took up other phases of the campaign, dwelling on local conditions and showing the superiority of the Democratic ticket.

CANNOT BULLDOZE McNALLY.

The Tribune's Statement Denied to a Tribune Reporter.
Judge McNally cannot be either bulldozed or cajoled into an affirmation of the truth of the statement attributed to him in the Tribune of Thursday. On the contrary he avers he never made use of any such language or any language that could be construed in the way the Tribune reported it.

A reporter for that paper a few days ago insinuatingly said to the judge, "Didn't you make that statement to my friend the county attorney?"

"No sir," was the very emphatic reply, "and you are a liar if you say so."

CHAPMAN'S LATEST.

CHARGED WITH "TOUCHING" A CHICAGO COMMERCIAL MAN.

His Examination Continued Until Today—Two Incongruous Girls Taken In By The Police—Notes.

The sensation that The Herald intimated was behind the arrest of Charles Chapman on Sunday developed yesterday. When brought to police headquarters on that day he had only one charge registered against him—that of vagrancy.

He will now have to answer a graver charge. He is held for "touching" Mr. Wier, a commercial man now in Chicago, and obtaining by the clever theft a check for $1,500. He had a brief hearing in the police court yesterday on the charge of robbing the Chicago man of that amount. He said he was not guilty and wanted time to get an attorney to represent his case. On that account the hearing was continued over until today, when some interesting disclosures are to be expected. Chapman's bond was fixed at $1,000.

TWO INCONGRUOUS.
Kitty Anderson and Kitty Thomas Under Arrest.

Kitty Anderson and Kitty Thomas are two unsavory girls who were locked up yesterday at the request of their mamma. For over a year the two Kitties have kept them in a state of almost continual nightmare and now they ask as a last resort that the truant pair be sent to the reform school.

The girls are both of the tender age of fifteen, but already they have become adepts in the ways of the evil doers. They began their runaway career about a year ago. Since then they have made frequent excursions from their homes, but until recently would usually return after a lapse of two or three weeks. Finally even that seemed to become tiresome to the errant maids and they went up by taking a stage to the city of Los Angeles. While there it is claimed they became prostitutes.

A domestic info court yesterday morning both girls claimed they were not guilty of prostitution. In the end they were asked for a place to sleep. Mrs. Cornelia Paddock, president of the Woman's Home association, wanted to take the youthful offenders to the benevolent home at Ogden. The consent of the parents and girls was gained to this plan and they were very likely taken there in a day or two.

IN THE SWIM.
Glenison Has Again Caught the Popular Fancy.

The old skating rink was packed to the doors last night, and the proprietors of the greatest horse show on earth, Messrs. Wares & Bode, showed a sign of regret as they saw hundreds turned away. It was a great audience, too, that greeted Glenison; it was one that even Patti would not have been ashamed of. Among those present were ladies and gentlemen who had attended the exhibitions given here last spring, and who were only too anxious to renew an old acquaintance.

The four horses handled last evening were very satisfactory to the audience if one is to judge from the applause, and the several innovations, such as steam whistles, etc., made a pleasing variety.

"Crazy Jack," a powerful black, was given a few lessons, but she proved to be among the toughest that the professor ever handled in this city. However, he promised that a private lesson or two would put her in good humor, and she will be seen in the ring again tonight. That the building will be jammed during the remainder of the week is certain.
